

Atul Dubey
Senior Vice President, Global Strategy
Wolters Kluwer

Atul Dubey joined Wolters Kluwer per July 2016 as Senior Vice President, Global Strategy. In this position Mr. Dubey leads the strategy development processes, evaluate new markets, and identify potential growth opportunities of the company.

Atul comes from S&P Global, where he was most recently the Head of Transformation for Standard and Poor's Rating Division. Prior to that, Mr. Dubey spent nine years at Citigroup in strategy and operating roles in their institutional businesses.

Additionally, Atul worked at Booz and Company for ten years, where he held roles of increasing scope departing as a Principal in their Financial Services practice. Atul began his career in a series of manufacturing leadership assignments in pharmaceutical and industrial companies.

Mr. Dubey has an MBA from Carnegie Mellon University and a Bachelor of Science in Machine Tool Engineering from University of Bombay.